

GUESS THE MYSTERY ARTIFACT
CAN YOU FIGURE OUT WHAT IT IS?
WHAT IS IT?

FRONT/TOP VIEW

The mystery artifact is a butter mold. The rabbit imprint is just for decoration and was not used for a special purpose of holiday.

Did you know?

Butter molds have been used for centuries, most commonly in northern Europe. The mold was not used to shape butter, but also could measure out the butter – that way customers would get the amount they wanted from the shopkeeper.
